PakSeat – A “Must-Have” at the Golden Globes!

The innovative design of the Pakseat was all the rage among nominees, presenters, celebrities, and VIPs who received the backpack as part of the Gifting Suite for the 2009 Golden Globes.

The Gifting Suite took place at the 9900 Club (formerly the Friars Club) in Beverly Hills on Friday January 9th and Saturday January 10th; and stars LOVED the Pakseat!!!

Billy Zane (Titanic) - “Brilliant! Very smart! Perfect for Greek Amphitheater - no cold marble to sit on. I love your bag! I think what you’ve created is genius.”

Rich Sommer (Mad Men & The Office) - “That’s awesome! I love it! That’s really rad! I just bought hiking boots two weeks ago and this is really going to help me get into it!”

Shaun Toub (Iron Man) “Very smart! Love it! You guys thought of everything. This will be perfect when I got to New Zealand next month for a new film I’m working on!”

Alica Sacramone (Olympic Gymnast) - “That is such a brilliant idea! My boyfriend plays football at college (Brown University); the seats are really uncomfortable. This would be perfect for his games!”

In addition to giving celebrities first access to the PakSeat, Deltess Corporation donated its latest products to benefit the following charities: Educating Young Minds; Terrance Howard’s St. Bernard Project; Isaiah Washington’s Gondobay Manga Foundation; and the Hollywood Note Foundation.
